

It was my pleasure to speak at the 2009 IONA Conference from the patients perspective.

My talk focused on the emotional impact of sight loss. With my input an artist by the name of Adam Hahn has painted a picture of me depicting how I see the world. I have macular degeneration, am registered blind, and this is how I typically see faces.